Quiz - Preventing and Protecting Against Tuberculosis - Healthcare

1. What does TB stand for? _______________________________________________________________________

2. Is latent TB or active TB infectious? _______________________________________________________________________

3. A bad cough lasting 3 weeks with some blood being coughed up are symptoms of TB.
   - True
   - False

4. N95 masks or higher are needed if caring for someone with the infectious form of TB.
   - True
   - False

What Would You Do?
Annabella Demetrios, 76 years old, has been a resident in your facility for 3 years. She has been fit and active but in the past three months she has had hip surgery and a severe respiratory infection. She reports feeling increasingly unwell, not sleeping, and for the past 3 weeks has been plagued with an annoying cough. She reports coughing up blood at times and you have to change her sheets through the night. What would you do?
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________